THE WEAK AND DEBILITATED.

Why Women Become Invalids.

(From 125 St. Paul Street, New York.)

The home life of woman has its penalties. Their confinement and close application to household duties and the secondary parents which are a part of their duty, bring with them a train of evils which woman is loath to face. From her peculiar organization, she is more sensitive than the stronger sex—more easily persuaded and more ready in her belief of causes and effects. Hence, for the thousand times which flow from her position and habits, she is prone to fly at once for relief to drugs and nostrums. Besides, women are not permitted the advantages men have in the use of proper preventives, and she is left a prey to quackery and bad advice. In turn, cod liver oil, beef tea, iron, and various actions are taken, which derange the stomach and enfeeble the nerves, without possessing any food value, and which increase the weakness of their delicate organism. In the development of the special functions from inadequate nutrition, the wasted form is only a too common sight. Under these conditions of an irregular and disordered system, the married state is entered into, and the painful effects of all kinds of drugs and nostrums, which women would never take if they knew what they contain, is a prolific source of the ailments with which they are afflicted. A pure stimulant is often indispensable to their malady and is highly recommended by the most eminent physicians. The question has been heretofore, where to procure an absolutely pure and unadulterated article, free from fumes and other poisons, ingredients that could be safely prescribed for their benefit. Eminent scientists and chemists have failed to find a trace of fuel oil in Duffy's pure malt whiskey, nor any adulteration whatever, and hence it has not only become a standard of purity, but a specialty in medical practice. From such diseases as dyspepsia, indigestion, heart burn, faints and swoons, and wasting maladies, to which delicate women are prone, the highest medical authorities give this pure stimulant a preference, and recommend its use medicinally.

THE TRUTH ABOUT IT.

"Spring," sang the poet, "budding spring,"
Alas! the boughs were bare;
He was himself the one green thing,
For ice lay everywhere.
"Hail, spring," with breezes soft and sweet,
The spring returned his hail:
There came a shower of snow and sleet
Upon a wintry gale.
"Sing, merry birds in bush and tree,"
He called the almanac;
The birds were wiser far than he,
And did not hurry back.
"Spring, gentle,"—here he ceased to sing,
Let the sad truth be told;
The while he craved of baying spring,
He caught an awful cold.
—April Century.

—Last game of polo between Chicago and Janesville, to-night. Williams, the greatest rider in the country, will play in the Janesville team in place of Sperry.

—The Janesville will not take part in the polo tournament at Milwaukee, on account of Sperry and Ehler not being able to play owing to other engagements.

—Badger Council No. 223, Royal Arcanum, assemble in regular session to-night meeting this evening—lodge room in the Lappin block, East Milwaukee street.

—The business men near the corner of Main and Court streets have subscribed for an electric light and that part of the east side is now brilliantly illuminated.

—George K. Colling, the contractor and builder is now remodeling the Myers residence at the head of East Milwaukee street, the intention being to make a double tenement.

—Presiding Elder Lugg received a dispatch to-day from Rev. T. Dewitt, Pease, of the Ohio M. E. conference, stating that he would accept the Court Street pulpit for the balance of the year, and would be on hand one week from next Sunday Mr. Pease is a man of extended experience and will no doubt prove an acceptable pastor.

—This morning at four o'clock the tobacco shed of Michael Joyce, four miles from Edgerton, was seen to be in flames, and though everything possible was done to prevent it the structure was soon in ruins. Besides the building, six acres of tobacco and a number of farming implements were destroyed, the loss being about four hundred dollars. It is thought that the cause of the fire was lightning. The building was insured with S. Hayner, of this city in the Continental Insurance Co. of New York.

—Mr. and Mrs. George S. Knight and company will appear at the opera house this evening in "Over the Garden Wall." The company comes here with the highest testimonials of the public and press. The St. Louis Republican of a recent date says: "There are three hours of frolic and every moment is fully utilized. There is everything about the piece that one could wish for, and it all arrives with such naive surprise—so perfectly have they mastered the unexpected—that every now situation bubbles over with sparks of fresh merriment."

—The storm last night created quite a disturbance among the wires here in town. The electric light wires came in contact with the telephone and telegraph wires making the operators in the two offices do some lively work. In the Western Union office the current struck the key board and started a blaze. Manager Davis, however, came to the rescue with a pair of nippers and broke the connection. Almost the same thing happened in the telephone office, while the electric lights on one of the west side circuits flashed, sputtered and grow dim very mysteriously. The interference was almost in front of the rink, and bright gleams of electricity were seen among the wires for some distance up and down the street.

—Yesterday Messrs John J. R. Penne and Levi B. Carle visited Evansville and the interests of the Evansville "cut off." They found that the people of Evansville were taking a very lively interest in the building of the road. After a consultation with a few of the leading business men of Evansville they commenced the homeward journey, making "right of way" contracts as they proceeded. They found that the farmers were taking interest in the proposed road, and during the day secured optional contracts for four miles of road. The committee are highly pleased with their (dattering success, and are gratified to see the farmers agitating this great improvement and new outlet for their products. We understand the committee will visit Chicago to-morrow.

Personal.
—J. J. Cox, an old Janesville boy, but now engineer on the Peninsula division of the Chicago & Northwestern road, and residing at Escanaba, Michigan, is in the city on a short visit.

THE CORONER'S INQUEST.

The Particulars Relating to the Accidental Death of Charles Kreiger.

The Finding of the Jury Last Evening.

The following additional particulars relating to the accidental shooting of Charles Kreiger, an account of which was published in last evening's Gazette, are taken from the testimony before the coroner's inquest held last evening.

Drs W. H. Palmer and J. B. Whiting were sworn each giving a detailed description of the wound which caused instant death. The right side of face, including upper lip, cheek, forehead, top portion of side of head was blown out entirely. Fragments of bone and other portions of the face were carried up through brain and out of top of head. Some fragments of upper portion of skull were missing. Right lobe of brain considerably lacerated. The right side of the face and top of head were literally blown away.

Herman Kafa, a brother-in-law of deceased, testified in substance as follows: I know the dead man—Charles Kreiger; he was my sister's husband. He was 27 years old; he would have been 28 years old if he had lived until the 10th day of next June. He and I started out hunting about 1:30 o'clock, on the river. We went toward the brewery and came back again to the road on Spring Brook, having hunted around the bushes. We borrowed the boat from a friend living in Monterey. When we reached the shore he jumped out and pulled the boat up. Then he caught hold of the gun by the barrel and pulled it towards him. Guess he thought he was on the boat and went off. The charge struck him above the lip on the right hand side. He was on the shore then. I was in the back of the boat. He fell over backwards when the gun went off, with his head toward the north. I took the gun and placed it near the boat, not moving the body. The body was taken to the Hyatt house barn. The gun was loaded with powder and number three shot. He had lived here about two years being about five years over from the old country. He had no parents living, but leaves a wife and little boy about two months old. He was a day laborer. The last work he did was shoveling coal for the Chicago & Northwestern railroad company last autumn.

Marsial Hogan testified to the removal of the body from Spring Brook to the city morgue.

N. E. Bennett was also sworn, his testimony being substantially the same given by the physicians and young Kafa.

The jury brought in the following verdict: An inquest taken at the city of Janesville in the county of Rock, and state of Wisconsin, on the 13th day of April, A. D., 1886, before M. S. Priest, one of the justices of the peace of the said county, upon the view of the body of Charles Kreiger, there dead, by the jurors whose names are hereunto subscribed, who being duly sworn, inquire in behalf of the state, when, in what manner and by what means the said Charles Kreiger came to his death upon their oaths do say that the said Charles Kreiger came to his death on the 13th day of April, A. D., 1886, at the city of Janesville, in said county, by being accidentally shot and killed with a gun, which he then and there held in his own hands, being in the act of removing said gun from a boat.

AGAINST GREAT ODDS.

But the Janesvilles Win Notwithstanding. Score 2 to 2.

The Janesville team was considerably weakened by the absence of Rescoe. That player hurt his knee during the day and was unable to go on the floor. His place being taken by Campbell. Buchanan was the rush as usual, but from the start it was evident that the home team was not playing their best game. However they managed to make it very interesting for their opponents and it was by a succession of what seemed like miracles that the ball was carried straight down the center of the floor and tossed within reach of Scott; the hard hitter of the visitors. But whether it was luck or science, the ball was there and Scott with one of his swift left hand strokes drove it into the cage. In the second goal the Riversides were fairly outplayed, although Ridgely's play in goal could not have been improved upon. Corrigan finally made a pass for goal which was stopped by Ridgely. The ball bounded out a few feet and Corrigan darting up sent it once more toward the cage this time placing it safely.

The backers of Janesville were now hoping that the lights would go out and it did seem as though nothing less than that could save the game from going against them three to nothing. When the whistle blew the Janesville boys went to work determined to have at least one goal and after over twelve minutes of hard play they secured their first point Buchanan caging the ball on a pass from Sperry.

The second goal for the Janesvilles was a repetition of the second goal against them for the ball was driven straight for the goal covers' feet, was stopped and tossed out, and Buchanan, who had carried it up this far made another stroke that sent it in.

Buchanan, Ridgely and Brown seemed to do most of the playing that was done for the home club in the last goal and the play by which the former caged the ball was the finest ever seen on the floor. A pass was made from the center of the floor safely out of reach of the Casino half back and Buchanan skating along with the bounding rubber struck for goal. He missed, but whirling like a flash as he was about past the cage he made a back-hand stroke, for which the Chicago goal tenders were entirely unprepared. The game was saved for Janesville, and as the clubs stopped from the floor, Buchanan was taken up on the shoulders of his friends and carried back and forth among the excited crowd, cheering making the voice of the bass drum only a subdued murmur. The summary of the game is as follows:

GOALS.
Janesville: Buchanan, Ridgely, Brown.
Chicago: Buchanan, Ridgely, Brown.

FINANCIAL ELECTION.
At the quarterly meeting of the board of trustees of the Janesville fire department, Mr. Wm. G. Metcalf, who has lately filled the office of secretary of the department for five years, tendered his resignation, he having decided, after fourteen years' service in the hook and ladder company, to retire from active duty. The resignation was reluctantly accepted, and President Richardson was instructed to prepare a resolution expressing the sentiment of the department toward Mr. Metcalf.

Mr. William H. Morrissey was elected secretary, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Metcalf.

At the annual meeting of Rescoe Hook & Ladder Co. No. 1, held last evening, the following officers were re-elected for the ensuing year:

Foreman—W. E. Spicer.
Assistant Foreman—J. Mosher.
Secretary—William H. Morrissey.
Treasurer—William Wilson.

The weather.
At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 55 degrees above
